Who we are

The Vancouver Humane Society (VHS) is a registered charity dedicated to the humane treatment of animals. We encourage individuals, businesses and government to take responsibility for the welfare and rights of animals affected by human activities. Our funding comes primarily from donations and our activities are made possible by the generous support of volunteers.

What we do

VHS uses educational and research activities to create greater understanding of animal welfare problems and to find solutions to those problems.

We provide information to politicians and officials to support decision-making that protects and enhances the well-being of animals.

We help people in need to obtain low-cost spay/neuter or medical services for their companion animals.

Projects

Our Chicken Out! Project provides information to consumers and retailers about the inherent cruelty involved in housing systems for egg-laying (battery) hens.

We inform consumers about the products available from higher welfare systems, such as certified organic eggs.

We are working with local communities to expose the cruelty involved in the wild and exotic animal trade.

We monitor local zoos and other businesses using animals as entertainment and provide information to improve the living conditions of captive animals.

We have an ongoing project to provide information about the inhumane treatment of rodeo animals.

We are a founding member of the Canadian Coalition for Farm Animals (CCFA), which works to improve the lives of farm animals across the country.

We provide funding for low-cost spay/neuter and medical services for companion animals in need.

Our CATFIND line (604.266.1012) provides recorded information to assist people who have lost or found a cat.
